Date: May 26th, 2025, from 6 pm to 8 pm

In-person event

Attendees can submit anonymous questions in advance—either for medical students or fellow community members—to guide the discussion on affirming and responsive care for 2SLGBTQ+ patients in the North. Facilitated by Cynthia Larche and Chelsey Pilon, this conversation will address these questions in a safe space. Together, we will discuss challenges and envision improved healthcare practices.

We also want to hear from you! Our submission form will be available before, during, and after the event to collect community feedback on the medical experiences of 2SLGBTQ+ individuals in Northern Ontario. Your input will shape future training at NOSMU and advocate for meaningful changes in healthcare education. This is a unique opportunity to make your voice heard, connect with community members, and help create a more inclusive healthcare system.

Local organizations, including Fierté Sudbury Pride and Réseau ACCES Network, will be on-site to share information about their services. For more information or to support this event, please reach out!

Story Building With Music Camp

Date and Time: Saturday, May 31 10:30 am - 11:30 am

Address: 74 Mackenzie Street Sudbury, ON P3C 4X8

The GSPL and Teaching Artist, Joey Salvalaggio are pleased to invite you to enroll your child, ages 9-14, in a new literacy initiative using classical music to inspire story telling. The Story Building with Music camp is an 11 week program that meets Saturday mornings from 10:30 - 11:30 and will ignite your child's imagination and creativity. Students work together to write an original story that they narrate for a recording accompanied by music. Every student receives a copy of their group's recorded story to share with family and friends. This program is funded by a generous grant from the Ontario Arts Council and is offered free of cost to participants.
